CORP2M - Introduction

Introduction

Introduction

The Master's in Communication aims to train students, tomorrow's communicators, in communication professions. The programme enables them to acquire and develop skills in critical and strategic analysis of communication and to discover high-level professional techniques.

Objectives

- To train you in the communication professions thanks to a teaching team made up of academics and high-level professionals.
- To enable you to acquire theoretical and operational skills to be able to develop a strategic vision.
- To help you to build you an expert profile thanks to a wide choice of options.

The Master's degree is a comprehensive training to become a critical analyst and strategist of communication. It offers students the possibility to further specialise by choosing from three specialisations:

Specialisations of the Master in Communication:

Strategic Communication for Organisations (LLN)	The objectives of the "Strategic Communication of Organisations" specialisation are to train students in the issues of opinion, image and reputation in a changing world. This major aims to prepare future specialists in strategy and project management in the world of communication (https://uclouvain.be/prog-corp2m-lcorp203s)
Web strategy and communication (Mons)	The objectives of the "Web Strategy and Communication" specialisation are to train students in the media ecosystem, in particular the web, in order to be able to develop and conduct appropriate communication policies and strategies (https://uclouvain.be/prog-comm2m-mcomm302s)
Culture and communication (Mons)	The objectives of the "Culture and Communication" specialisation are to train students in the analysis of cultural productions and the implementation of communication policies and practices in the cultural sector (https://uclouvain.be/prog-comm2m-mcomm217s)

Advantages

- A tailor-made campus:
 - a particularly innovative and high-tech campus in Mons
 - an international and stimulating campus in Louvain-la-Neuve
- L'accès aux réseaux des anciens (alumni) UCLouvain et COMU
- Access to the UCLouvain and COMU alumni networks
- A pedagogical approach based on individual and collective projects and case studies;
- A tailor-made campus:
 - In Mons, it is based on advanced and individualised technological devices (usability lab, transmedia studio, social media lab, etc.).
 - In Louvain-la-Neuve, it is based on the richness and dynamism of the city-university and on a network of partners in related fields (management, journalism, political science, information science and technology, European studies, etc.)
- The opportunity to practice your skills in real conditions, thanks to a professional field experience, which ranges from a few months to an academic year.
- The opportunity to spend part of your programme abroad at one of our 45 partner universities in Europe, North America, South America and Asia.
- Cutting-edge research in communication.
- The possibility of following the master's degree in double graduation (with the University of Sherbrooke) or in triple graduation (with Sc Po Aix and the University of Sherbrooke).

International Masters

The possibility to follow the master in double degree (with the University of Sherbrooke) or in triple degree (with the University of Sc Po Aix and the University of Sherbrooke).

- Double Master's degree in International Strategic Communication.
Since the start of the 2018-2019 academic year, UCLouvain and the University of Sherbrooke (Canada) offer a double degree

The work-study programme at the university offers students practical experience that prepares them for their future career, while allowing them to continue their university studies. Employers also benefit from this approach, as they can train potential employees while identifying early talent for their company. Work-linked students are paid/compensated for their work in the company.

More information on this programme can be found at: <https://uclouvain.be/prog-2023-coam2m>

Your profile

The Master's degree in communication is aimed at students interested in communication jobs in the commercial, non-commercial, cultural, public and private sectors.

CORP2M - Information

Access Requirements

Master course admission requirements are defined by the French Community of Belgium Decree of 7 November 2013 defining the higher education landscape and the academic organisation of courses.

General and specific admission requirements for this programme must be satisfied at the time of enrolling at the university.

Unless explicitly mentioned, the bachelor's, master's and licentiate degrees listed in this table or on this page are to be understood as those issued by an institution of the French, Flemish or German-speaking Community, or by the Royal Military Academy.

In the event of the divergence between the different linguistic versions of the present conditions, the French version shall prevail.

Teaching method

The Master 120 offers a dynamic and original teaching formula. The student is invited to carry out numerous educational activities, individually and in groups. These activities are subject to continuous and regular evaluation.

Many courses offer an integrated approach which is sometimes reflected in a common timetable within which the student will progress, from the same object, in the light of diverse and complementary views and practices. The student will be confronted with the views of internationally active researchers, as well as those of recognised professionals. This interweaving creates a particular pedagogical framework, based on critical analysis and involvement in the concrete world of communication and its technological, social and political issues. The courses aim at both technical performance and intellectual autonomy.

Modalities that contribute to interdisciplinarity

The specificity of information and communication sciences naturally favours interdisciplinarity. The diverse training of teachers reflects and guarantees this. In addition, students in the Master 120 programme are brought into contact with students enrolled in the Master 60 programme. The majority of these students come from various disciplines (humanities, social sciences and exact sciences, etc.). This mix ensures a real interdisciplinarity and openness necessary for Information and Communication. In addition, many interdisciplinary approaches are offered by borrowing courses from other schools or faculties, or from other universities through specific agreements.

Variety of teaching strategies (including e-learning)

Depending on the subjects taught, the pedagogy focuses on the acquisition of knowledge and analytical skills. In all cases, it aims at learning intellectual and practical autonomy. The latter will be sought more particularly in the realization of projects and work, individual and group. The use of "intelligence technologies" is one of the pillars of the pedagogy put in place: as this is a communication training course, the student is both introduced to the technologies and software appropriate to the practices of his/her sector and invited to use them in following his/her programme. Some courses or parts of courses thus exploit the possibilities of the Moodle platform or intranet sites created for this purpose.

Variety of learning situations

The student is invited to participate in classical teaching activities: ex cathedra lectures, seminars and workshops. He/she will carry out individual and group work. The student will be assessed on an ongoing basis and on an ad hoc basis in examination sessions. He/she will also be required to complete a dissertation or internship dissertation. Finally, many courses offer e-learning approaches (provision of resources and exercises, pedagogical management, sharing and collective evaluation of work).
